Introduction

This report provides statistical information about Jackson County Circuit Court - Family Court Division for 2018, as well as trend information using historical data. The report begins with a description of the Jackson County population, including the number of youth. Next the report looks at referrals and formal filings to the Family Court for our various case types:

- Child abuse and neglect
- Adoption
- Termination of parental rights
- Status offense
- Delinquent and technical violation

The report considers disposition and intervention services, including the number of commitments to the Division of Youth Services, the number of youth certified to stand trial as an adult, and utilization of Family Court programs and services.

This report uses the following definitions for each referral category (from the Missouri Department of Public Safety and the State Juvenile Justice Advisory Group).

Status Offenses - Non-criminal violations that apply only to juveniles, including truancy, runaway, beyond parental control, and behavior injurious to self.

Technical Violations – Violations of court orders including probation violations.

Current Demographic Picture

The number of youth between the ages of 10 and 17 who resided in Jackson County has increased over the last few years after a steady decline between 2002 and 2012. The current number of youth is now slightly higher (0.7%) than it was a decade ago.

In 2017, the most recent year for which data were available, youth under the age of 18 represented 24% of the county population of 698,895. In Jackson County, 35% of youth were youth of color.¹

Referrals and Formal Filings

This section describes dispositions of referrals and petitions and motions to modify filed by year for (1) child abuse and neglect, adoption, and termination of parental rights cases; (2) status offenses; and (3) delinquent and technical offenses. Both referrals and formal filings listed for a given year were filed in that year. (Some petitions and motions to modify filed in a given year pertained to referrals filed in prior years.)

Delinquent and technical offense formal filings are analyzed by race, gender, and city of youth's residence.

Child Welfare Referrals, Filings, and Open Cases

The number of child abuse and neglect referrals filed since 2011 has fluctuated. The number of petitions and motions to modify (formal filings) for child abuse and neglect increased by 3% in 2018 after having declined nearly every year since 2012.

At the request of the Missouri Supreme Court, in 2015 Jackson County Family Court began a collaboration with Casey Family Programs to improve timeliness to permanency and safely reduce the number of children in foster care. Casey's Judicial Engagement Project has an ambitious national goal of reducing the number of children in foster care 50% by 2020 by improving systems of care for children. Our local initiative is focused on improving court systems for children in foster care to achieve safe, permanent homes for them. This is a multiyear project.

The clearance rate is the number of cases released from jurisdiction divided by the number of new formal filings. A number below 100% indicates more cases filed than released.

After several years of clearance rates below 100%, the rate increased in 2015 and remained at or above 100% until last year, when it dipped to 97%. Patterns of rates below 100% result in increasing caseloads, while patterns of clearance rates above 100% decrease caseloads. Accordingly, the number of open cases as of December 31 was about 2% higher in 2018 than it was in 2017.

Status Offense Referrals and Filings

The number of status offense referrals has increased in the past few years after a low point in 2015. Overall, status offense referrals have seen a significant decrease over the past seven years, declining 40% between 2011 and 2018.

Petitions and motions to modify filed for status offense charges decreased between 2011 and 2018.

Delinquent and Technical Offense Formal Filings by City of Residence, Race, and Gender

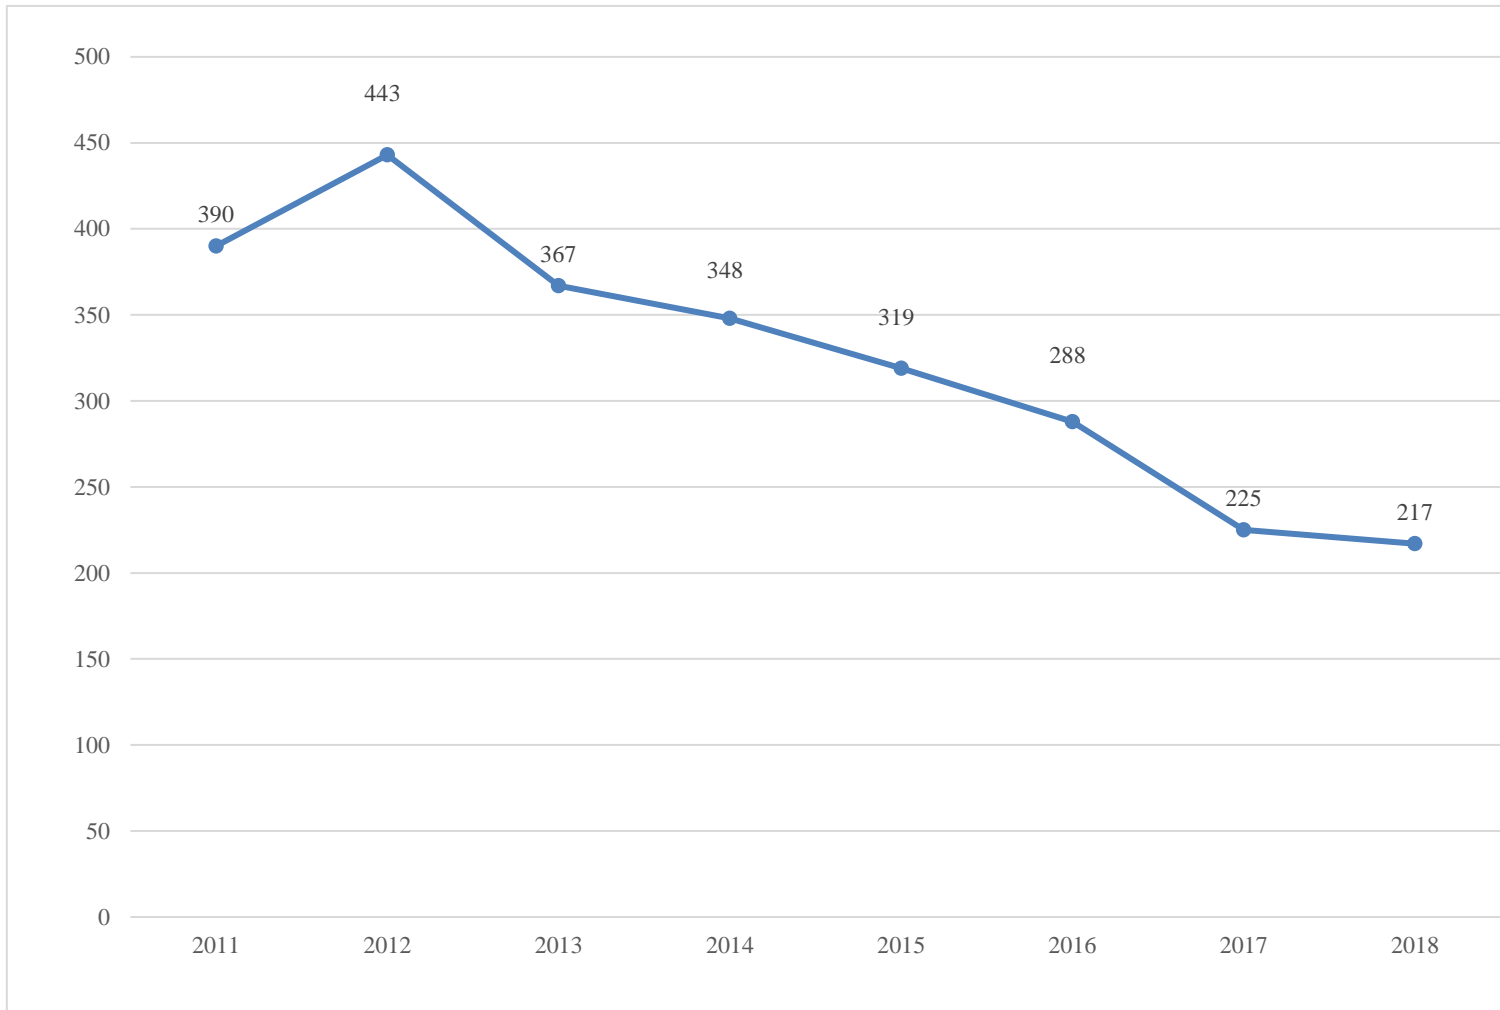

This section examines filings by race and the areas in Jackson County where the youth resides. The distribution of filings across geographic location has remained relatively consistent over the last eight years.

As filings have declined over recent years, the percentage of filings by race has remained fairly consistent. Overall, just over 70% of the filings for delinquent and technical offenses were for African American youth. Just under one-quarter of the filings were for Caucasian youth, and a very small percentage of filings were for alleged offenses and violations committed by youth of other races. African American youth make up only about 30% of the youth population in Jackson County; therefore, this filing rate is highly disproportionate to the population. Family Court Services is actively examining decisions and other racial equity issues in its juvenile justice processes and programs.

Disposition and Intervention Services

This report section describes the youth committed to the Division of Youth Services (DYS), youth considered for certification, and youth and families served by Family Court Services programs.

The Family Court committed 18% more youth to DYS in 2018 than 2017. The Juvenile Officer filed about the same number of certification cases in 2018 as in 2017.

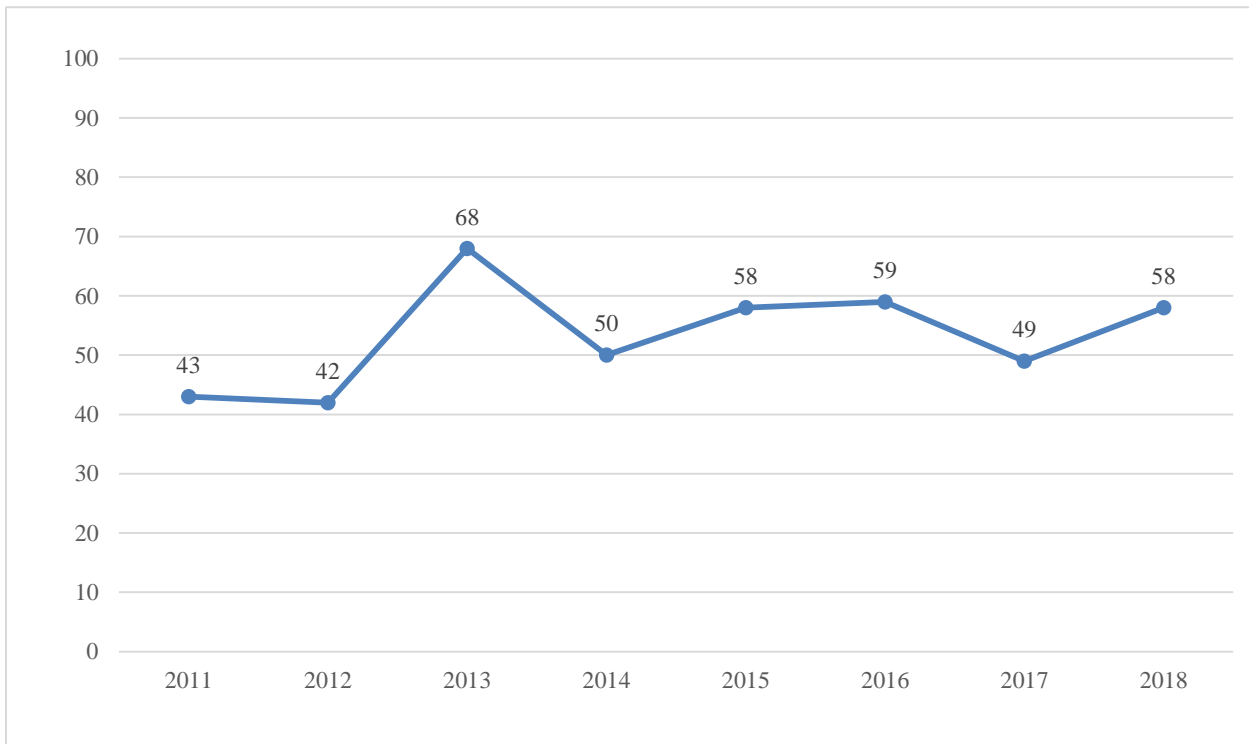

Commitments to the Division of Youth Services

Commitments to the Missouri Division of Youth Services (DYS) over the last eight years did not decline proportionally with the overall decline in delinquent referrals to the Family Court. After a substantial increase in 2013 due to the closure of McCune Residential Center at the end of 2012, DYS commitments have remained fairly stable, at around 50 to 60 each year.

Certification Cases

According to Missouri Statute:

“If a petition alleges that a child between the ages of 12 and 17 has committed an offense which would be considered a felony if committed by an adult, the court may, upon its own motion or upon motion by the juvenile officer, the child or the child's custodian, order a hearing and may, in its discretion, dismiss the petition and such child may be transferred to the court of general jurisdiction and prosecuted under the general law; except that if a petition alleges that any child has committed an offense which would be considered first degree murder, second degree murder, first degree assault, forcible rape, forcible sodomy, first degree robbery, or distribution of drugs, or has committed two or more prior unrelated offenses which would be felonies if committed by an adult, the court shall order a hearing, and may in its discretion, dismiss the petition and transfer the child to a court of general jurisdiction for prosecution under the general law.”⁴¹

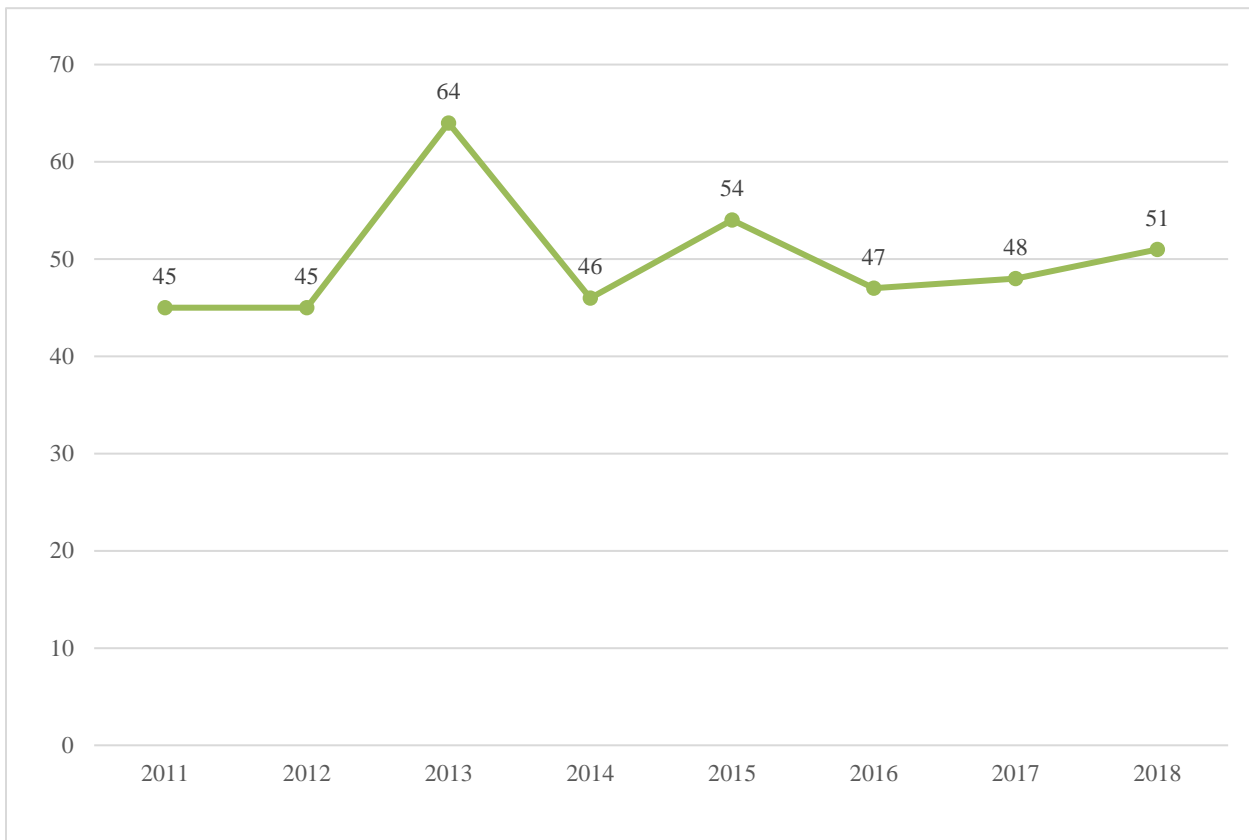

The number of certification filings was slightly higher in 2018 than in 2017.

⁴⁵ MO Rev. Statute 211.071.1 reads: “If a petition alleges that a child between the ages of twelve and seventeen has committed an offense which would be considered a felony if committed by an adult and the child has committed two or more prior unrelated offenses which would be felonies if committed by an adult, the court shall order a hearing, and may in its discretion, dismiss the petition and transfer the child to a court of general jurisdiction for prosecution under the general law.” These offenses constitute the mandatory (priors) designation in this table.

⁴⁶ Assault includes Assault 1st, Attempted Assault 1st, and Assault of a Law Enforcement Officer 1st Degree.

⁴⁷ Murder includes Murder in the 1st and 2nd degrees.

⁴⁸ Sex Offenses include Statutory Sodomy 1st, Statutory Sodomy with a Person less than 14 years of age, and Possession of Child Pornography.

⁴⁹ An addendum will be published in June 2019.

Family Court Programs & Services

Family Court Services offers a broad range of prevention, intervention, and treatment programs and services to youth in Jackson County.

Prevention and Diversion. In 2018, four programs served a total of 278 youth and their families. This represented a 34% decrease in the number of youth served compared to 2017. The Family Court Diversion Program showed a 38% decrease in enrollment between 2017 and 2018.

Probation Services. The number of youth under Field Services supervision in a year has decreased 45% since 2011 but was just slightly lower in 2018 than in 2017 (127 youth and 132 youth respectively).

Detainment and Residential Treatment. The annual number of youth detained in secure detention has declined 44% since 2011. The number of youth detained in non-secure detention has declined 74% in the same period. The number of youth committed to Hilltop Residential Center has declined 14% since 2011.

Family Drug Court. The number of participants in Family Drug Court has fluctuated between 76 and 106 over the past seven years, reaching a high point this year of 133.

Family Court Resource Services. Parent Awareness Courses. Enrollment in the Focus on Children in Separation (FOCIS) class, a class for married but separated couples with children, decreased 3% between 2017 and 2018. Enrollment in Re-FOCIS, a refresher course, increased 18% between 2017 and 2018. Enrollment in the Parenting Together Living Apart (PTLA) class, a class for never-married parents, increased 39% in 2018 from 2017. A total of 3,158 parents and children were served in 2018, an increase of 9% from 2017.

Supervised Visitation. Supervised visitation is provided for cases with custodial access interference concerns, parent-child estrangement, or other issues deemed to necessitate supervision of parent-child contact. Therapeutic visitation may be ordered for non-custodial parents and their children to address child exposure to domestic violence, parent estrangement, and any other issue deemed appropriate by the court.

Supervised visitation events between 2017 and 2018 increased 8%, while therapeutic visits decreased 27%. Connections Program monitored exchanges declined 82% from 2017 to 2018.

Mediation. Overall, mediators served 337 cases in 2018, a decline of 23% from 2017. This figure does not include mediation conducted by court-approved panel mediators (private mediators).

Conclusions

This report captured statistical information related to activities and selected outcomes for the 16th Circuit Court – Family Court Division and Family Court Services.

Over the last eight years, the number of referrals filed for child abuse and neglect has fluctuated as much as 34% from one year to the next, with an average change of 12%. Petitions and motions to modify filed for child abuse and neglect fluctuated by up to 13% from one year to the next.

The number of youth aged 10-17 in Jackson County has remained relatively consistent over the last eight years, but the number of delinquent and technical referrals to the Family Court declined 27% in that same period. After slight declines in each of the previous three years, the referral rate in 2018 was nearly identical to that in 2017. The number of petitions and motions to modify filed for delinquent and technical offenses decreased by 43% since 2011 and 7% in the last year.

In 2018, youth residing in Kansas City continued to account for the largest share of delinquent and technical offense filings in Jackson County (65% of all delinquent and technical offense petitions and motions to modify). Youth from Independence were the subject of petitions for delinquent offenses more frequently than youth in other Jackson County cities.

African American youth accounted for 71% of the delinquent and technical offense petitions and motions to modify filed in 2018. Caucasian youth accounted for 23%, and Hispanic youth accounted for 4%.

In the last eight-year period, the number of youth committed to the Division of Youth Services was highest in 2013, with 68 commitments. In 2018, 58 youth were committed to DYS, up from a low point of 42 youth committed in 2012 and up from 49 commitments in 2017. African American youth represented 83% of all commitments to DYS in 2018.

The number of certification cases filed in 2018 was about equal to the number filed in 2017 (51 and 48 respectively).

Family Court Services offered a broad range of prevention, intervention, and treatment programs and services to youth in Jackson County. In 2018, there were four prevention and diversion programs serving a total of 278 youth as well as their families. The number served was down 34% compared to 2017.

The number of youth starting probation has decreased 53% since 2011 and dropped 17% between 2017 and 2018. Detainments have decreased dramatically since 2011 (44% in secure detention and 74% at the non-secure facilities). Since last year, admissions to secure detention and detention alternatives decreased by 13% and 24% respectively. Commitments to Hilltop Residential Center have been stable for the past three years, increasing 3% between 2017 and 2018.

Family Drug Court served 133 participants in 2018, an increase of 75% from 2017.

Family Court Resource Services offered a wide variety of services to court-involved families. A total of 3,158 parents and children were served by three parent awareness courses in 2018. The Connections Program provided 1,576 supervised and therapeutic visits and arranged 100 monitored exchanges. Mediators served 337 cases.

This report summarized Family Court activities for 2018 and trends in filing activities and treatment services. The goal of the annual report is to provide complete, accurate, and helpful information to enable the Family Court to better serve the youth, families, and community of Jackson County. Future reports will expand and develop as changes in the organization and community warrant examination.
